INTRODUCTION

In the years of independence, the high status and wide opportunities given to the state language in Uzbekistan ensured that processes such as its integration with other languages and mutual enrichment took place. The adopted law "On the State Language" became an important document that increases the value of our national language, ensures and guarantees its wide use in all spheres of people's life, as well as its high status, prospects and development. It opened up a wide space for our literary language to be nourished by its historical and natural-national sources, enriched and developed in contact with world languages. The task now is to ensure his truly active life. Because language is primarily an activity. The activity of a nation is first of all reflected in its language. The development, enrichment of the language, its place and status among other languages depends on the general state of mind of the population speaking this language and the content and level of their activities. That is why the language materializes in the first place in the way of the specific activity of the people.

MAIN PART

It is intended to increase the position, weight, quality and efficiency of social and humanitarian education in the higher education system of our republic - to turn it into an important means of raising a well-rounded person in the true sense of the word. In this regard, a number of far-sighted and promising measures are being implemented.

The decree of the President of Uzbekistan "On the further improvement and efficiency of the activity of the public center "Spirituality and Enlightenment" recognizes the human personality as the first factor in the implementation of fundamental reforms in all sectors of the national economy in the conditions of the market economy. improvement, are important activities aimed at improving the spirituality and culture of the population. The new concept of education or the national program of education, which is aimed at the humanization of educational processes and today implies clear goals and tasks, is an integral part of large-scale measures aimed at the humanization and democratization of society in general in our independent republic.

In language education, it is not necessary to force the teacher's will and even thoughts and knowledge to the students, but to use their own will and thoughts, to think, to work independently. attention is paid to the wide implementation of ways and methods of providing encouragement, encouragement and inspiration. Also, the agenda of relying on the effectiveness of the effective use of the unity and harmony of different knowledge, enlightenment, spirituality and high culture in language education, paying special attention to the opportunities of the teacher, pedagogue and coach to set a personal example. and in this matter, attention is being paid to revitalizing the activity of spiritual and enlightenment centers in educational countries. Taking into account the role of sociological problems in language education, strengthening its educational importance in language teaching is becoming one of the main requirements of modern pedagogy and building a new society in independent Uzbekistan.

In the humanization of language teaching, it is important to convey to students the priority and superiority of socio-humanistic knowledge, to arouse interest in social and humanitarian sciences in all students, regardless of their specialization, and a deep need for learning. becomes important. In this case, organizing effective use of students' extracurricular time, listening to lectures on personal interests and aspirations in libraries, reading rooms, museums, exhibitions and other cultural and educational places, watching movies, reading books, various it is appropriate to use such methods as participation in circles, "work-games".

It is intended to further accelerate language education and improve its quality and efficiency by providing appropriate technical tools, visual aids, educational literature and information at the level of new requirements. Today, most educational countries use special computer classes, different types of language learning tools, and special educational programs adapted for them.

Such activities, which are intended to be implemented in all higher and secondary special educational institutions of our republic and in our system as a whole, and which are being successfully implemented in some cases, as a result, a mature specialist who is highly qualified and a skilled master of his profession, and at the same time, ensures the formation and upbringing of a highly cultured, spiritual, all-rounded person.

CONCLUSION

In conclusion, it can be said that in our country, the work of accelerating the development of society and raising it to a new, high level, combined with the necessary cultural-spiritual and educational activities, is a bright and bright sign of our national development method. It is embodied as a remarkable sight. If it is possible to create this scene in practice, to implement it in life, then without a doubt, the development of society in our country will be developed in a different way, different from the way of Western civilization, both morally and physically. it will be possible to raise it to the level of a high and perfect human society.
